U.S. Government Agents Recover $90,300 of Ransom Money—Man and Woman Under Arrest Admit Burning Another $4,000 When Pursuit Too Close—Boy Identifies House

SALT LAKE CITY, June 11 (AP).—While Government agents were believed to be closing in tonight on William Mahan, confidant who would complete the solution of the George Weyerhaeuser kidnapping, he and Mr. and Mrs. Harmon M. Waley, arrested as his confederates in the case, were faced with charges of violating the Lindbergh law.

The new charges were filed today in Tacoma, scene of the kidnapping, while the Waleys remained here under close guard of Department of Justice agents. Preparations were complete for their removal to Washington State except for a formal court order, the final step being still taken when court officials and attaches left their offices for the night.

DELAY IS UNEXPECTED
The delay apparently was unexpected by Department of Justice officials other than those in the Bureau of Investigation, who understood that a complaint charging the Waleys with conspiracy to use the mails to defraud was received here last night and assumed that it would be acted upon promptly today.

Then came the announcement from J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation at Washington, of the discovery in a cache a few miles from this city of $90,300 more of the ransom bills, buried there by Waley. They said he admitted having destroyed $4,000 more of them when the pursuit became too hot, and that he and his wife had spent some $300 additional.

HON. E. RHODES IS RETIRING

Finance Minister Cannot Accept Nomination Again Because of Ill-Health

GLACE BAY, N.S., June 11 (P).—Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, has informed Dr. R. Cameron, president of the Nova Scotia Liberal-Conservative Association, ill-health is forcing him to retire from public life, and he will not be able to accept a nomination for the forthcoming Federal elections.

"You will recall my personal letter to you of March 25, in which I confidentially advised you that the state of my health would not permit me to continue in active public life," the minister stated in a letter from Ottawa, dated June 5.

HEALTH IS PRECARIOUS

"Since that date, as you are aware, I have had a rather serious illness, and breakdown of so serious a character as to keep me out of my office for over a month, and my physician advises me that it is imperative that I should have some months of complete rest. Indeed, I do not require the advice of my physician in this respect, as I am well aware that my reserves of physical strength have been completely used up, and nothing but complete rest and relaxation for a prolonged period will enable me to attain normal health and strength.

MUST LEAVE PUBLIC LIFE
"As we are nearing the end of the session, I shall endeavor, as best I can, to carry on the duties of my office until the end of the session, and, if possible, until the end of Parliament, but it is my heartfelt duty to have to advise you that in no circumstances can I contemplate further active participation in public affairs. It follows that I cannot accept a nomination for the House of Commons. It is somewhat difficult for me to express my feelings in announcing this decision."

SPECULATORS MAY FACE BIG LOSSES

Bank of France Refuses Loans on Gold With Many Persons in Short Position

PARIS, June 11 (AP).—Gold speculators are being gradually squeezed by the continuing rise of the Bank of France's restrictions.
The Ministry of Finance today announced loans on gold at the Bank of France would cease. They really were discontinued three weeks ago, and the bank is carrying only about 1,000,000,000 francs ($66,000,000) on gold bullion holdings by foreign governments.

Bankers estimated speculators still are short several billions of francs, and may face big losses when they are obliged to settle their accounts.

Government to Issue and Buy In $2,000,000 of British Columbia Bonds, Holding Notes as Investment and Releasing Cash for Works Programme—$1,500,000 for Roads

BRITISH Columbia is to borrow $2,000,000 from itself! By putting interest-bearing notes in the sinking funds' till and spending the money taken from that source on a curtailed programme of public works, $1,500,000 is to be made available for roads, and $500,000 additional for approved work loans to municipalities, Premier Pattullo intimated yesterday.

TELLS DOCTORS ABOUT BABIES

Dr. A. R. Dufour Still Unable To Tell Quintuplets Apart By Appearance

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 11 (P).—Dr. A. R. Dufour, physician to the Dionne quintuplets said today that while each baby is developing individual characteristics, he still is unable to tell them apart by appearance alone. He detailed the financial arrangements made for them.

The Callander, Ont. doctor is attending the joint sessions of the American and Canadian Medical Associations and was voted honorary membership in the latter organization.

He said the quintuplets now have about $20,000 in cash and a potential $100,000 in contracts to endorse products used in their hospital. He added $5,000 a year was required to care for them and $8,000 is being spent on their private hospital.

CONSTANTLY GUARDED
They are constantly guarded. Dr. Dufour said, because he believed there might be some truth to recent reports that threats had been made to kidnap them.
He declared the Government guardianship over the quintuplets was the best action possible, in order to protect them. Dr. Dufour added that most of the contracts would be void in the event of the death of any one of the infants.

Vancouver Island Being Systematically Robbed Of Ability to Progress

By B. A. McKEULVE
The principle that the Mainland should be treated with a major portion of the expenditures of public monies was early recognized, but as time went on and greater political control became centered in Vancouver, the legitimate needs of Vancouver Island were more and more neglected. In fact, any expenditure for island development was likely to call down upon the administration making it the criticism of Vancouver political circles.
It is interesting to recall that more than forty years ago the Mainland city petitioned the Governor-General-in-Council for the separation of Vancouver Island from the province, because of the intention to erect the main block of the present Parliament Buildings here. In view of the treatment that has been accorded to Vancouver Island since that time, it is perhaps unfortunate that the petition of the residents of Vancouver was not successful in attaining its objective. It did have the result, however, of securing for that city a more dominant place, and the spirit that actuated the politicians of the Burrard Inlet Centre in 1893 has continued active to the detriment of Vancouver Island.

Members From Ten States Adopt Platform for Next General Election

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 11 (AP).—Armed for the fight with a unanimously approved "Republican creed," some 8,000 hopeful members of the grand old party left for their homes in ten Prairie States tonight, enthusiastic over their chances to regain the Midwest in 1936.

Without comment, the meeting adopted as the views of the combatant branch of the party a comprehensive "declaration of principles" offered by the resolutions committee.

The pronouncement declared for a "defense of American institutions, a sound currency based on gold and definitely stabilized by Congress and international in character," a balanced budget, "by the honest method of bringing the expenses of the Government within the limits of its income."

LABOR LEGISLATION

To labor was held out an approval of "the principle of collective bargaining," wages "consistent with American standards," the outlawing of child labor and protection for women workers.

Canadian Government Still Negotiating With U.S. for Reciprocal Agreement

OTTAWA, June 11 (P).—The Canadian Government had not lost any of its enterprise or energy in the matter of trade negotiations with the United States, R. H. Arthur Meighen, Senate leader, told the Upper House today in a late sitting.

The question of negotiations between the two countries was raised by Senator Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader, who wanted to know what progress had been made. Senator Rodolphe Lennox (Lib., Montreal) suggested the Government was "marking time."

CARE MUST BE TAKEN
"The position of the Government was announced some time ago," Senator Meighen declared. "There are reciprocity arrangements and reciprocity arrangements. Very great care must be taken that such arrangement is acceptable to the people of Canada, and is a step forward rather than a step backward." It was possible to have a reciprocity arrangement that could be detrimental.

"A good reciprocity treaty can be made," Senator Meighen went on. "No person has ever failed against trade with the Yankees—that phrase was a pure invention. 'Undoubtedly,' Senator Meighen continued, "we want an agreement which is fair and just to our country."

Premier Says Passage of Coote Bill Would Turn Monetary System Into Farce

OTTAWA, June 11 (P).—Passage of the Coote Bill permitting municipalities to issue scrip money would turn the monetary system of Canada into a farce, Premier R. B. Bennett warned in the House of Commons tonight. He pictured every town and city with its own printed money.

"And the very central idea of money will have perished."
The Prime Minister adjourned debate tonight to permit Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes to speak when he returns to the House.
The bill, sponsored by George Coote (U.F.A., Macleod) would eliminate one section of the Bank Act which set a $990 fine for issue of scrip. The Alberta farmer member claimed scrip money would enable cities and towns to collect back taxes and make improvements.

WILL BE TRIED FOR BURGLARY

George Hannay and William Jones Committed for Alleged Crime

NANAIMO, June 11 (P).—George Hannay and William H. Jones were committed for trial today by Police Magistrate C. H. Beaver-Potts on a charge of breaking and entering the store of A. Constantine at Parkville, on the night of June 4 last.

A quantity of groceries, allegedly taken by the accused men from the Constantine store, was submitted as evidence.

Constable Jacklin testified he and Constable Gunn saw the men enter the store and accosted them when they came out. The two men fled, Jacklin said, dropping sacks containing the loot. The officers ordered them to stop and fired in the air when they refused. The men were later arrested by Staff-Sergeant J. Russell and Constable Christensen at the intersection of the Island Highway and the Alberni Road after a struggle with Jones.

SUSPICIOUS ARTICLES
Sergeant Russell declared he found a cotton glove and several keys in Jones' pocket and two pieces of celluloid on Hannay's person. The officer testified that the next day, in the presence of the owner, he had opened both doors of Constantine's store with the celluloid pieces.

Jones said he had struggled with Russell because he did not know the latter was a police officer.
Hannay reserved his evidence and said he would apply for bail before a judge of the Supreme Court in Vancouver. Crown counsel declared the application would be opposed on the grounds that Hannay is out on bail on a similar charge.

"The bondsmen have been released by orders of the Attorney-General," Hannay retorted, "and I am out on my own recognizance."

Army Maintaining Strong Attitude Until All Sweeping Demands Fulfilled

WATCHFUL WAITING
FOLLOWS SUCCESS

TOKIO, June 12 (Wednesday)—(AP).—A bloc of four provinces in Northern China opposed to and independent of the Chinese Nationalist Government and friendly to Japan and Manchukuo is a possible aftermath to the establishment of Japanese influence in Hopei Province, said a Reno (Japanese) News Agency today from Peiping.

The dispatch, purporting to outline the views of influential Chinese and Japanese in North China, said among the masses in North China "the hope is loudly expressed" that the four provinces would form a bloc.

THREE MORE PROVINCES
In addition to Hopei, already under the domination of the Japanese army, the provinces named were Shantung, Shanxi and Chahar. In Chahar strong Mongol elements are expected to seek closer ties with Manchukuo's Mongolia, and Shanxi has long been independent of the National Government at Nanking.

The Japanese army's increasing interest in Chahar has been indicated by the recent programme. TIENTSIN, June 11 (P).—Japan's army, its bloodless coup in North China almost completely successful, tonight was determined to maintain its "strong" attitude until China fulfills its sweeping demands.

HITCH DELAYS PEACE ACCORD

Signing Postponed by Paraguay's Minister Although Approval Given Sunday

BUENOS AIRES, June 11 (P).—Paraguay, at the last minute tonight, blocked the signing of a peace accord with Bolivia. Luis Rias, Foreign Minister of Paraguay, said the signing, scheduled for 11 p.m., was postponed because "a simple armistice" is proposed, without guarantees, and it was necessary for him to consult his Government.

UNEXPECTED HITCH

The hitch came unexpectedly, as Paraguay on Sunday had approved the accord a few hours after it was announced here. Crowds had celebrated the prospective peace tonight in Asuncion.

Rias issued the following communique: "Tonight the peace protocol agreed upon by the Governments of Paraguay and Bolivia, and approved by them, was to be signed; but the ... has been postponed owing to a simple armistice having been proposed, without guarantees, to be executed outside of the agreed system, and the acceptance which requires prior consultation with my Government."

Capture of Halibut Adds to Fishing Lore Of the West Coast

Salmon Troller Lands Big Fish Foul-Hooked by Ancient Tackle Lost by Indian in Previous Battle of the Sea

CLUELETT, June 11.—Landing of a large halibut here has added to the number of good fish stories coming from the West Coast, while providing interesting evidence as to fishing methods in the history of the district.

While trolling for salmon recently, Arthur Baird reports that, to his surprise, when he hauled in his line, instead of the large spring salmon that he expected was a very large halibut. He had not set for halibut and could not understand it. Upon closer examination he found that an old-style Indian wrought halibut hook, now almost worn away, was lodged in the head of the fish and, while unsuspecting halibut had been idly swimming, about the hook, from the trolling line had securely caught in the old hook and the fish was thus pulled in.

RELIC OF OLD FIGHT
Undoubtedly this fish had been hooked years before, but had escaped with the hook only to be accidentally caught again after years of freedom. This halibut, with the rest of the day's catch, was sold to the local buyer, but the old style hook, which is now a curiosity and long out of date, is being preserved as a souvenir.

Active Picketing of Docks in Vancouver Enters Seventh Day

Police Guard Approaches to Larger Piers While Working of Ships Is Gradually Extended—More Unions Ready to Give Support

VANCOUVER, June 11 (P)—Active picketing of the Vancouver waterfront continued, as the sixth day of the longshoremen's strike was completed, with police guarding the approaches to the larger piers, from which the general public was barred.

More men were put to work by the Shipping Federation of British Columbia today and it was understood the newly-hired employees were members of the Canadian Waterfront Workers' Association, with which the federation made a working agreement after announcing the Vancouver and District Waterfront Workers' Association had repudiated its agreement.

The federation maintained the strictest secrecy regarding its activities. Reports indicated five vessels were being worked with fourteen deep-sea ships idle.

Possibility of negotiation was fore-shadowed when the Longshoremen's Union recommended a committee be elected with a view to opening negotiations not with the federation but with its members as individual stevedoring, docking and shipping firms.

Several locals of the Longshore and Water Transport Workers of Canada, the central union, have voted in favor of a general strike if called. The latest of these to vote, the Coastwise Longshoremen and Freight Handlers' Association, is reported to have voted 205 to 57 in favor of a strike.

"In the event of a flat refusal by the employers to reopen negotiations, we have no other alternative than to notify all affiliated locals who have already balloted in favor and those who are still taking a ballot to stand by for instructions if necessary," the longshore statement said.

Longshoremen at New Westminster announced the freighter Pacific Pioneer, worked here by members of the C.W.W.A., was now considered "unfair" and they would refuse to load her. In view of this, it was decided to load 2,000 tons of bar metal on the Pacific Pioneer here instead of at New Westminster and the cargo was diverted here by rail.

This action, it is stated, will mean a loss of employment to approximately ninety men in New Westminster with a payroll of $4,000.

WANT FISHING LICENCES CUT

Fish and Game Associations Of Island to Gather At Ladysmith

Elimination of the $5 non-resident angler's licence will be sought by affiliated fish and game associations of Vancouver Island at a meeting to be held in Ladysmith today. Major Roger Monteith, president of the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association, will attend the conference.

Major Monteith pointed out yesterday that the $5 permit was a great hardship to those who only wished to fish in tidal waters for a day or less. If no suitable agreement can be reached between the game board and the associations, Major Monteith will urge that the $1 per day licence be reinstated.

Dates of open seasons for grouse, pheasant, quail and partridge for various localities upon Vancouver Island will be recommended at the Ladysmith conference.

FISH HATCHERIES
In regard to fish hatcheries, the following resolution was unanimously passed by the executive of the Tourist Trade Development Association of Vancouver Island when members met at Nanaimo last Friday.

"In the development and protection of Island game fishing, there exists considerable difficulty in securing suitable sites for fish hatcheries due to private ownership of such sites. For the whole of British Columbia, the sum of $15,000 is set aside for fish hatcheries. It is requested, therefore, that the Provincial Government be urged to set aside a greater amount for this work."

GOVERNMENT GRANT
Fish and game associations will discuss the matter of an increased Government grant to be used exclusively for the propagation of trout. The present amount of $15,000 is derived from fishing and hunting licence fees.

Major Monteith pointed out that the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association will test the waters of Thetis and Elk Lakes to determine whether they could be used as rearing ponds and hatcheries for trout and steelhead.

Plans will also be drawn up for a dam at the swamp which supplies the Veitch Creek hatchery at Sooke. Members of the association claim the dam is necessary to secure a constant supply of water, and could easily be constructed as an unemployment relief project.

UNEQUAL TREATMENT
For many years successive Governments have been begged to give some assistance towards the beautification of Victoria, the capital city. Victoria is entitled to such help, for the Government has approximately $3,500,000 of tax-exempt property within the municipal limits. The incorporated area of Victoria is small, and consequently the amount of tax-exempt property is proportionately large. Promises have been made in the past that something would be done, but Government promises where Vancouver Island is concerned, have been proven to be worthless. The fact is that no help has been given to Victoria in maintaining parks, or in keeping up public services. But on the other hand, Vancouver has a justly famous tree—Stanley Park. It belongs to the Dominion Government and is leased to the city. A few months ago uprooted the same tree and it was found that other trees were likely to fall. The

VANCOUVER ISLAND IS BEING ROBBED

ENUE OF THE MAINLAND DID NOT EQUAL THAT OF VANCOUVER ISLAND. LONGER EXPENDITURES IN WORKS OF DEVELOPMENT WERE MADE UPON THE MAINLAND THAN UPON VANCOUVER ISLAND, and ever since Confederation, the proportionate expenditure for such works upon the Mainland has largely exceeded what would have been its share, in proportion to population, and to the contribution of the Mainland towards the revenue.

Since 1893 the power and influence upon successive Governments of the Mainland has been increased, and slowly but surely the Island has been robbed of its ability to protect in the Legislature.

VOICE WEAKENED
In 1893, when the Mainland sought to have the Island separated from the Province, Vancouver Island had sixteen members in the Legislature. Today, Vancouver Island has ten members. In 1893 the Mainland had seventeen members, and today its demands are voiced by thirty-eight members. It will be seen that the power of the Island has been steadily diminishing as that of the Mainland increased. This robbing of the residents of Vancouver Island of the force to compel consideration is still going on.

In the Legislature elected in 1928 Vancouver Island had eleven seats. Before the last election a redistribution bill consolidated two Island constituencies, Nanaimo and Alberni; and similarly consolidated four Mainland districts into two, and added another new constituency, Peace River. This meant one less member for the Mainland and one less for the Island, but at the first session of the present Parliament, the constituency of Columbia was restored and a by-election was held. Thus the standing today is that the Mainland has the same number of seats as in 1928, while Vancouver Island has one less than it had at that time.

LACKED EFFECTIVENESS
Such an injustice was only possible as a result of the absence of a coherent Vancouver Island spirit. Had the ten elected members from Island constituencies—no matter to what party they belonged—been imbued with an Island consciousness, this further weakening of the influence of Vancouver Island in the Legislature would not have been permitted.

Vancouver Island residents should surely by this time, realize that they need not look to Mainland members to vote appropriations to undertake the works that are essential to the progress of Vancouver Island. Mainland members are too eager to secure the maximum of expenditures for their own constituencies, and for that no person will blame them. They have the power to compel any legislature to neglect the legitimate requests of Vancouver Island ridings in order to improve their own districts, and they depend upon the proverbial apathy of Islanders to assist them.

NEW DEAL ESSENTIAL
It is time that Vancouver Island

had a new deal. That new deal could have been secured any time since 1918 if the people of the Island had awakened to the necessity for a spirit of unity; if they had been ready and willing to set aside fancied differences of political faith that actually did not exist in the absence of separating issues based on policies, and had developed an articulate public spirit. There never has been a session since 1916 when the elected members of Island constituencies could not have forced a better deal for the Island, provided that they had acted as a unit in making demands for more equitable licence fees.

Elected members only reflect the spirit of the people. Let Vancouver Island citizens express their desire for a definite unification of Island purpose and their representatives will respond.

Instead of receiving fair and just treatment with the Mainland, Vancouver Island has been digging down to supply revenues to carry out public works on the Mainland when similar undertakings have been denied here.

NANAIMO WATER SUPPLY IS LOW
Council Passes Stringent Regulations—Striking Unemployed Decide to Go Back to Work

NANAIMO, June 11.—The council last night passed the most stringent water regulations which have existed in Nanaimo for many years. The city is to be divided into three areas, with one hour per day for sprinkling, three days per week allotted to each, with no sprinkling on Sundays.

A letter was received from the secretary of the unemployed, who have been on strike since April 1, stating that the men have decided to go back to work on the council's original terms, under protest. Alderman Inkster moved, in view of the letter, that the council arrange to take the men back as soon as possible. This will be done.

PEARL BUCK TRIES AGAIN

Divorces and Marries Cast-Off Husband of Her Close Friend

RENO, Nev., June 11 (P)—Pearl Buck, the former missionary who became famous for her novels about China, won a divorce—and a new husband in a strange marital triangle here today.

She divorced John L. Buck and then married Richard J. Walsh after her close friend, Mrs. Ruth A. Walsh, obtained a legal separation from the wealthy New York publisher.

STEPS ASIDE
Mrs. Walsh apparently willingly stepped aside when she learned of the romance between her husband and her friend.

The two women had resided together for six weeks while establishing their Nevada residence, and Mrs. Walsh witnessed the marriage of her former husband to the celebrated novelist.

Both women charged cruelty in their divorce suits and the private trials were completed in ten minutes.

Then Mrs. Buck and Walsh, partner in the company which recently published the novelist's trilogy, "House on Earth," were married by Rev. R. Thompson, dean of men at the University of Nevada and ordained Baptist minister.

WOMEN LIVE TOGETHER
The women had resided together at Lake Tahoe in a private home. They managed to keep their identities secret throughout their sojourn.

Each couple had been married for many years. The Bucks have two children, Carol, fifteen, and James, ten, while the Walshes have a daughter, Elizabeth, seventeen.

The novelist and Buck of La Grangeville, N.Y., were married May 30, 1917, and the Walshes on September 26, 1908.

Property rights and custody of their children were signed by the couples, but terms of the agreements were not disclosed.

INDIAN POTLATCH TO BE HELD LATER

One full day of celebration is planned by the Dominion Day celebration committee instead of three days as at first intended, but the day will be crammed with activities of various kinds.

This change in the plans was made necessary when it was found impossible to hold an Indian potlatch owing to the fact that the Indians will be away on the Mainland on July 1 berry picking. However, the committee is negotiating with the Indians to hold a potlatch early in August, thus securing the city of a third celebration. This will be in keeping with Mayor David Leeming's scheme of tourist attractions.

The various committee chairmen submitted their budgets at last night's meeting of the Dominion Day celebration committee, and the night

programme was decided upon as follows:

THE PROGRAMME
Monday, July 1—10 a.m., baseball game between a local team and the Home Gas team of Vancouver; regatta at the Gorge at 2 p.m.; baseball game at 3 p.m.; band concert and massed choir performance, Legislative Buildings, 8 to 9:15 p.m.; frolic at Crystal Garden at 8 p.m.; and, tentatively, fireworks display in the Inner Harbor at 9:15 p.m.

The fireworks depends on negotiations now being carried on and whether another body will co-operate with the celebration committee. In the event that the necessary co-operation is secured, the fireworks will be of a spectacular type.

In addition to the one day of celebration, a special non-denominational service of thanksgiving is planned on Sunday afternoon, June 30, at Beacon Hill Park, to be followed by a band concert.

Searching Houses For Water Leaks

MONTREAL, June 11 (C)—In an effort to locate leaks which are causing a loss of 3,000,000 gallons of water daily, inspectors of the city of Lachine have instituted a house-to-house search. Leaks accounting for 558,000 gallons have already been found and repairs made.

MONTREAL, June 11 (C)—The 1936 General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada will be held in McNabb Street Church, Hamilton, it was decided here to day celebration committee, and the night

TROUNCE ALLEY IS AN ODDITY

Private Owners Pay Taxes
to Provide Public
Thoroughfare

How would you like to pay taxes on a piece of property only for the purpose of providing a thoroughfare for the public? There are such philanthropists in the city, and the thoroughfare is Trounce Alley.

Believe it or not, but the assessed value of Trounce Alley, which runs at the back of the Central and Union Buildings, connecting Government Street with Broad Street, is approximately $8,800. This means that the owners will pay some $350 in taxes to the city this year merely for the purpose of affording the public easy access to the rear of the buildings, and access to Broad and Government Streets.

In order to maintain their right of ownership, the property holders must barricade the alley once a year and prohibit the public from using it. New Year's Day is chosen for this, so that the public will not be inconvenienced on a business day.

Within the past few days one of the tenants of a building with frontage on Trounce Alley discovered why his water bill was so high. It was averaging $15 a month, enough to have irrigated a good size strawberry patch.

Sinking of a section of the concrete sidewalk led to the discovery that the water main underneath the alleyway was leaking. When men were placed to work to repair the concrete sidewalk, it was found that there was a regular stream of water running underneath, carrying soil away and causing the concrete to settle. The job, which at first was to have cost $5, is now costing $100, but the tenant with the heavy water bill will save this amount in a little more than a year through the lower water bill he is anticipating now that the leaking pipe has been replaced.

The owners of Trounce Alley are the Canadian Realty Corporation, Limited; Central Holdings, Limited, and H. A. Maclean et al.

SIX SITTINGS FOR B.C. COURT

Three Sessions in Victoria
And Three in Vancouver
For Appeals

Instead of two sittings each in Vancouver and Victoria, the British Columbia Court of Appeal will hold three in each centre, commencing next year. This was decided by the Government yesterday, with proclamation of the Appeal Court Act as amended to take place at December 31, 1935, and additional rules drafted.

The Victoria sittings of the court next year will commence on the second Tuesday in January, the second Tuesday in April and the second Tuesday in September. In Vancouver, the 1936 sittings will begin on the first Tuesday in March, the third Tuesday in May and the first Tuesday in November.

Appeal Court rules as redrafted are of a technical, legal nature.

WILL TAKE PART IN CELEBRATIONS

Tourist Trade Development Association Plans Band Concert and Events at Willows

The Dominion Day celebrations here will be assisted by Greater Victoria branch of the Tourist Trade Development Association of Vancouver Island, it was announced by the executive council yesterday.

Members of the local council are Harold Huxford, W. T. Strath, James Hudson, R. H. B. Ker and T. H. Ealick. Alderman T. W. Hawkins is chairman of the Dominion Day celebration committee.

For two months the executive council has been working on plans for summer outdoor entertainments, erection of road signs directing visitors to beauty spots and a comprehensive road map of the Island.

Part of the council's contribution to the Dominion Day celebrations will take the form of a band concert and events at Willows Park, through courtesy of the British Columbia Agricultural Association.

LONDON, Ont., June 11 (C)—The seagull at Springbank Zoo is shunned by the feathered folks, and for his own safety is in a cage by himself. It started when Mr. Oul browbeat his mate and she died. The swans turned on him. Then the ducks and geese got after him. Next he was turned loose, but he returned, so now he is kept in isolation.

SINKING FUNDS ARE EXCHANGED

Council Continues Policy of Increasing Its Holdings of Own Bonds

Several bond exchanges and purchases were authorized by the City Council on Monday night. The exchanges and purchases were in keeping with the policy that has been carried out during the past two years, namely, that of buying in city bonds.

Following are the exchanges of sinking fund debentures: $5,000 Province of Alberta, Edmonton-Dunvegan and B.C. Railway guaranteed bonds due 1944 at $100 and accrued interest, for $4,000 City of Victoria 5 per cent bonds due 1945 and $1,000 City of Victoria 5 per cent bonds due 1944 at $93.30 and accrued interest.

$5,000 British Columbia 4.25 per cent bonds due 1936 at $100 for a corresponding amount of City of Victoria 4 per cent bonds due 1937 at $96.30.

Following were the purchases authorized: $2,000 City of Victoria 4 per cent due 1937 at $96.44 and 4 per cent due 1937 at $96.44 and accrued interest, and $2,000 City of Victoria 5.5 per cent bonds due 1942 at $97.73.

REPUBLICANS PLAN STAND

"Justice" was promised the veterans of all wars and the need for "the establishment of old age and unemployment reserves" was recognized.

The statement tacitly approved some fundamentals of the agriculture adjustment administration. "We hold," the farm plank read in part, "that no economic advantage of agriculture thus far attained shall be surrendered. The farmer is entitled to a fair and proportionate part of the national income and to receive a parity price for the product of his farm in the domestic market. We endorse the enactment of such legislation, approved by the farmers themselves, as will accomplish such purposes. We endorse the statement of Governor Lowden that, so long as we have a protective tariff for the benefit of industry, we should give to agriculture corresponding protection for that portion of the products of the soil which goes into domestic consumption."

HEED ELDER STATESMAN
Thus the members heeded the counsel of Frank O. Lowden, elder statesman of the party who came out of virtual retirement to deliver the principal address.

Free press, free enterprise "capable of providing a greater proportionate security through an ever-widening distribution of property" and rigid enforcement of all laws, including those directed against trusts, were other principles espoused.

Continued protection of farm and home ownership and provision for the needy was voted, along with the "breaking down of restrictions on world commerce such as quotas and exchange restrictions."

REPORTS ON B.C. CAMPS

The commissioners were able to adjust them on the spot. Others were too trivial to require consideration, the report commented, but, on the whole, the complaints were reasonably submitted.

FINDS NO "MILITARISM"
No evidence was disclosed to bear out charges of "militarism," nor were the commissioners able to find any basis for complaints that men in relief camps were looked upon by employers as unsuitable for employment. Notice was drawn to the fact the isolated locality of some of the camps created depression, and it was suggested, system of

CONSERVATIVES TO MEET HERE

Executive and Women of Provincial Association
to Convene

Two meetings by British Columbia Conservative bodies have been called in this city for Saturday, R. A. Woolton announced yesterday. Under Mrs. Angus McLean, chairman, the women's committee of the provincial executive of the party will convene at 8:30 on Saturday morning at the Conservative Rooms, Campbell Building. Half an hour later, the whole executive will meet under Dr. Frank P. Patterson, president of the provincial organization, at the same place.

Mrs. McLean asked that all women members of the British Columbia executive of the party attend the first meeting, which will be for discussion of organization matters. Plans in connection with the coming federal election will be considered at the 9 o'clock meeting of the executive as a whole. Dr. Patterson has announced.

B.C. OFFICIALS
Officers of the British Columbia Conservative Association include Dr. Patterson, president; R. A. Woolton, Victoria, first vice-president; Frank Hassard, Enderby, second vice-president; Miss Edith MacFarlane, Vancouver, third vice-president; G. A. Smith, Chilliwack, fourth vice-president; E. C. Carson, Pavilion, fifth vice-president; Mrs. Sidney R. Bowden, Esquimalt, sixth vice-president; P. D. Pratt, Vancouver, secretary; and Dr. Alfred Thompson, Vancouver, treasurer.

Delegates from each district association form the balance of the executive. For the meetings on Saturday, it is expected there will be a good turnout of Vancouver Island members.

Court of Appeal Victoria Sittings

Keith (Alexander) vs. Keith (Helen L.). — This was an appeal from the order of Murphy, J., given at Vancouver on the 5th day of April, 1935.

The parties, husband and wife, were resident in Collingwood, Ont., and had one child. They were married in 1928, when the wife was about eighteen years old and the husband twenty-six. Disputes arose, the husband objecting to the wife's "running around," which consisted in going to dances and entertainments. There were allegations on her part of cruelty in the shape of insulting language and blows.

In August last, on representation that her father, who lives in British Columbia, was seriously ill, she induced her husband to permit her to come to British Columbia, bringing the child now two and one-half years old, with her. She refused to return, and the husband brought action under the Equal Guardianship of Infants Act, for the restoration of the child to him.

Murphy, J., who heard the application, granted him custody of the child and advised the mother to return and settle their differences in Ontario. While he appreciated the principle that to a child of such tender years the mother was the proper custodian, he felt that her conduct in leaving the husband was

RECIPROCITY IS VISIONARY

There is little nation-wide interest in the announcement from Ottawa that representatives
will be sent to Washington to discuss the basis
of a reciprocity agreement with the United States.
The situation is a somewhat peculiar one. The Bennett Government is stoutly protectionist.
The Roosevelt Administration was elected on a policy of reduced tariffs, but has been engaged in too many other preoccupations to carry out this mandate. There has been, indeed, nothing that has happened to indicate what is the present
attitude of the United States towards the tariff and foreign trade. So much immersed has President Roosevelt been in his New Deal policies that the importance of foreign trade seems to have been discounted to a degree and there has been no official pronouncement on tariff matters for a long time past in vague and general terms.

Again it should be emphasized that in any negotiations between the two countries with a reciprocity pact in view Canada labors under a handicap. She has a heavy adverse balance of trade with the United States. Reciprocity might well serve to increase this. The excess of American imports to this country over Canadian exports to the United States is formidable. That excess in varying figures has obtained during the past half century, and as it stands at present it is difficult to see any compromise to which the American authorities would agree that would correct the inequality; yet that should be the basis of any reciprocal arrangement. Canada,
however, has assumed the attitude that reciprocity must be fair to herself. How could it be without a wiping out of the present adverse balance?

The United States will not consider any reciprocity pact which would wipe out, or even reduce, her favorable trade balance with Canada.
Her export surplus is now steadily shrinking, and during the first four months of the present year stood at the lowest figure since 1926. There is the situation, too, that the agricultural interests of the United States have their hearts set against any lowering of the tariff barriers which would admit keener Canadian competition. In view of the forthcoming negotiations there is now an active lobby in Washington against any tariff concessions. It appears at the moment like a futile mission on which Canadian representatives will be engaged in the attempt to negotiate a reciprocity pact, the more especially if what is proposed militates against the present smooth
working of the Inter-Imperial Trade Agreements.

KAMALISM

Turkey has something in the nature of a Socialist regime, but it is called Kamalism, which has become a doctrine. Its features favor both of Fascism and Communism. There is a certain amount of freedom and private ownership
guaranteed just so long as they do not conflict with the public well. Class distinction is abolished and women and men have equal rights.
The State undertakes all public utility services
and exercises a control over private enterprises.

The principle is inherent in Kamalism that
"all the country's forces and resources, human and material, shall be used for its defence."
This is taken to mean that both sexes have equal obligations in the matter of national defence.
There is no Liberalism in the new Turkish State.
Such is characterized by M. Rejeb Peker, secretary-general of the Republican People's Party,
as leading to political quarrels and ultimately to anarchy. The new doctrine is described as mildly Socialistic and as suited to a well-disciplined
people, "who have no tradition of private enterprise." It is the outcome of Turkey's struggle for independence and designed to meet, under Turkish conditions. Already Persia and Afghanistan are beginning to adopt the Kamalist doctrine.

GREATEST NEWS STORY

How the minds of men work in the day days
is shown by a symposium of views of well-known newspapermen in the United States on what would constitute the greatest news story on earth.
Moreover those views illustrate, at least in part,
the nationalist viewpoint in journalism that is
so evident among our neighbors to the south.
Mr. Drew Pearson, the co-author of "Washington Merry-Go-Round," suggests, for instance, that in the field of international relations a United States declaration of war on Ethiopia, the ensuing revolt of Harlem, the battle between New York's Little Italy and the United Pullman porters, "is a situation giving heaven-sent scope to any reporter's imagination." Another suggestion of this gentleman is that if he could persuade Mr.
Cordell Hull to act the human fly on the side of the Washington Monument he would guarantee to push any other news story out of the banner headlines at least for a day. His "really big story," however, is one "with the love element,
human interest, national and international importance, and which could be followed up for days at a time with intimate details about the love life of the bride and groom." This story, he says, would be the elopement of Mrs. Roosevelt with Senator Huey P. Long.

Mr. Floyd Gibbons thinks the greatest news story on earth would be the achievement of actual universal peace. Since no one would know when that actual achievement was reached and no one could foretell the future there does not appear to be any merit in this suggestion. Mr. Jay Franklin, a political observer, believes that the greatest news story would be the discovery of a cheap and easy chemical process for making fuel out of salt water. This, he intimates, would bring to an end the struggle for existence among people and nations, "and would provoke a greater crisis than any war. In other words, a limitless supply of cheap fuel directly accessible to everyone would make a story of continuing interest

for years, according to Mr. Franklin. We doubt it.
Use lessens marvel, and such a discovery, if made,
would be taken for granted just as soon as it was in use.

Mr. John T. Rogers, the Pulitzer Prize Reporter
of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, believes the greatest news story would be a sudden reversion
to the fact of "government of the people, by the people, for the people." A sudden reversion in politics is usually followed by the pendulum
swinging back, and even now, if people got the government that Mr. Rogers suggests, it is extremely doubtful if they would know that they had it. Mr. J. V. Connolly, president of King Features Syndicate, is perhaps nearer the mark
than anyone else in saying that obviously the greatest story on earth would be another world war. Mr. Arthur Krock, the Washington correspondent of The New York Times, is also near the mark when he suggests as the greatest story the discovery of a certain remedy, at whatever stage
applied, for all now ineradicable diseases that decay the flesh or the organs and bring pain and death to man, thus confining causes of human dissolution to accident, violence or old age.

THE MEDICAL CURRICULUM

In Great Britain the opinion has been reached that some changes are desirable in the medical curriculum. It will not be extended beyond the present period of five years, according to a conference headed by Lord Dawson of Penn, but there is a new definition of the method by which studies
should be pursued. During the first two years (six terms) of medical studies the work is to be arranged by a board of teachers representing anatomy, physiology, chemistry, biochemistry, pharmacology and pathology. During the next four terms the student should continue the study
of chemistry, carry out work in the dissecting room and Department of Anatomy, and in the second term begin the study of elementary physiology and biochemistry. In the fifth and sixth terms of medical studies, while continuing
the study of anatomy and physiology, the student should be introduced to the principles of general pathology, immunology and bacteriology by a pathologist. The teaching of organic, physical and colloidal chemistry should be determined
by conference between the teachers of physiology, biochemistry and chemistry, due weight being given to the opinions of the teachers of physiology on the special needs of students of medicine.
The teacher of anatomy should be given access
to hospital material for teaching applied anatomy, with or without the assistance of a clinician
attached to the department.

The foregoing imply some changes in the present course in its early stages. During the five years of a medical student's life he is expected to achieve both a scientific and a clinical training. He is expected to emerge from boyhood to the full stature of a practising doctor and to acquire the knowledge of men and women, in sickness and in health, which is demanded as a matter of course by all patients. In the findings of the conference the aim of creating specialists
is abandoned, "the ruinous policy of surcharging memory with facts is condemned." The argument put forward is that the medical student ought to receive "such knowledge and such education as will enable him to approach the problems of practice with some degree of confidence, and with a legitimate hope that his scientific outlook
on health and disease will enable him to learn from subsequent observation and experience," so that, "his mind may acquire the kind of culture
which survives the forgetting of facts." The conference also urges, in laying down principles to govern the curriculum, that there should be instruction in preventive medicine, in public health,
and in legal medicine, and further instruction in diseases of the mind. By the time the final examination is reached the student should have realized that diagnosis and prognosis, treatment
and prevention, are part one of another, and, as The London Times says, that "all are based upon the accurate observation of a trained intelligence
and upon the resources of reason, sympathy and character."

Note and Comment

C. R. A. D.

Of all sciences there is none in which
first appearance is more deceitful than in politics.—Hume.

One of the very minor poets of Victoria wrote a poem, and by some miracle got an editor to print it.
about the curse of war. Sheltered behind poetic licence, the minor poet declared, emphasizing his declaration with a big, black exclamation point: "War, war is hell! Next to war, probably the greatest evil
of our own times is politics. Public opinion is so strong on this point
about politics that the average
reader of the newspapers abhors
politics as a subject of comment.
But we cannot do in this place what we have been told they do in another place, cast the politicians into outer darkness. The politicians are here, and we must tolerate them,
at least until they develop something approaching that as yet abstract thing, the science of government."

If the political atmosphere everywhere were as serene as it seems to be in Great Britain, where they change governments without creating little more than a ripple on the surface of the political waters,
there would be no reason for exclaiming, "war, war is hell!" But in almost every nation in the world
the political waters are seething
and boiling and bubbling like the waters in a seven times-heated cauldron. The collapse of the N.R.A. in the United States has set
the politicians raging, and most of the hundred and twenty-five millions of people over there are imagining a vain thing. The theoretical professors have been turned adrift,
and the practical politicians are telling the President what he must do to save the country from the consequences of an ill-judged experiment. Some of the practical politicians say that if their counsels
be not accepted there must be either anarchy or a dictatorship.

The political conditions are even worse in France than they are in the United States. Statesmen say the franc must be saved from devaluation at the cost of increased taxation. The common people of France who pay the taxes declare
they will not submit to higher taxation. There is such a conflict of political and economic opinion in the country and in the Chamber
that governments are being overturned almost every week. Any Government which lives more than a year is a political curiosity. The spectre of a predatory Germany,
watching and waiting for a new Day Tag, keeps all France in a state of nervous apprehension.

Then there is Italy preparing to spring into the interior of Africa
for the purpose of extending and consolidating her dominion there,
and telling the other nations with African interests to mind their own business. There is Signor Mussolini throwing the history of Great Britain in the face of the Government and declaring that it is by
might and by power opportunely
applied that great nations are created. Rightly or wrongly, morals have nothing to do with the ambitions of men or nations determined upon conquest.

The Italian dictator has the men and the power at the back of the men, and he is going to make use of both. Mussolini is no petty politician, possibly somewhat arrogant in his attitude, with no sufficient justification for his designs
upon the territory of the Lion of Judah, therefore he does not care
a button for the judgment of the world. But the methods of warfare
of the nomadic tribes of the great desert are somewhat different from the methods of the drilled forces of European nations, and there is a possibility that mobile forces who fight and run away, who consider a fig and a date ample rations, may give the warlike descendants of the ancient Romans some trouble before they are conquered.

Still there is some comfort in the world. But the methods of warfare
in big wars are sometimes influenced by sober, second thoughts. Herr Hitler is not boasting so belligerently about what he intends to do for the purpose of restoring Germany to her former high estate. He seems to have accepted the idea of conciliation after consultation with
Hon. Anthony Eden, British advocate of peace and goodwill. But there remains in the minds of men
a doubt as to whether Germany is to be trusted. Hitler may have ceased to bark because he knows he cannot bite. He has the men as the fodder of war, but he has not yet
the complete mechanism of war,
and that is being feverishly created.
Aircraft and seacraft are being built in anticipation of another day.

Let us not entertain the foolish
notion that Canada is blessed above
all other nations in that she is free
from political turmoil and may not suffer the consequences of the designs of ambitious politicians. Our political atmosphere is troubled.
For many years after the achievement of confederation the people of Canada were united in purpose and imbued with hope for the future.

Today the country is rent asunder
by political intrigue, fomented by demagogues. The West is being taught that the East is predatory
in its instincts and its purposes
and is preying upon and sucking
the business life-blood of the West.
The East regrets that the West has been squandering its money and its resources like a prodigal and is making demands upon the central Government, which, if granted,
would speedily reduce the nation to bankruptcy. If a general election would clear the air, which is doubtful, it would be a good thing if such an appeal were not unduly deferred.

Sport Your Buttonhole!

Few are the businessmen of our city who sport flowers in their buttonholes. We submit that a flower gives a neatly-groomed man an even more prosperous, or shall we say, happy air. Possibly nine out of ten businessmen possess flowers
in their garden, yet they seldom take the trouble to pick one to

Hog, Straying, One—

A farmer at Alta Lake put the capture a hog that had strayed

out of its shipping pen. The De-come. "Finally it started a file on the case, and passed the query

anyway, to ask such a question of

Help Future Lumbermen

Bill Clark is a rugged lumberman,
who has spent a lifetime in the operation of lumbering camps in British Columbia and across the line. He has a suggestion that is founded on the knowledge he has gained in the woods. It sounds sensible. It is that the youths about the Government are being taught to obtain an understanding of forestry by being put to work pruning trees on logged-off lands. By a scientific application of pruning principles on small second growth, argues Mr. Clark, the future lumberman would be assured of tall,
clean timber, instead of lumber
filled with knots.—B. A. M.

A Game and a Racket

Here's a suggestion for improving
the game of golf not your game
or my game, but the game of the lawmakers of the pastime: we
to limit the number of clubs to be used by a player in a round, to say,
six, it would make golf more a game of skill and less a test of engagement for the majority of players who do not employ caddies,
and it would by no means detract
from the interest in the play of the professionals and top-notch amateurs who do. It would make life a little easier for the overburdened caddy, and it would not suit
the golf gods racketeer, who makes his money persuading gullible players that a set of clubs (and new ones with every new set)
and a necessity, a little bit—

More Biblical Facts

No use, I couldn't even get the suggestion of a halo to hover
about Howard Chapman's head.
Not that I imagined he was getting ready for canonization or anything like that, but when he talked about what the Bible contains, he was so sure of himself
that I felt he must have an intimate knowledge of the Book far beyond my ken. Take it from me, there's always somebody ready
to shoot your most innocent
conjectures. Over KONO
last Friday morning some chap
quoted a whole flock of more apparently facts about the Bible,
including the ones mentioned,
the speaker offering to send anyone
a copy of the engraving on which the information appears. Then one Bill Kersey came in and said
he knew the number of "ands"
was correct, as he had counted
them himself and told me some

Bank Meeting—The annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal was held on June 4. Mr. Smith, the president, was in the chair.
There was a large attendance. Great interest was manifested in the proceedings. The president's address on the commercial situation was the most attractive he ever gave to the public during his career in this city. He declared himself a strong advocate of the American National Bank and the creation of a bank by the Dominion Government.
with the Government, and made a strong appeal for the adoption of such a measure. The bank was not in a position to make a loan of $1,000,000 in the future, for, although there was an improvement in general business, yet he did not look for a revival.

B.C. Timber Dues—In the House of Commons on June 4, Mr. Edgar, in the absence of Hon. Edward Ross, inquired whether the Government were prepared to invest the money due on Dominion lands in British Columbia over the rates heretofore imposed by the authorities. Whether the Government had established any limitation as to the area of British Columbia timber lands to be conceded to an individual? Whether the Government had been informed that the saw-mill industry in British Columbia was suffering from the increase of duty on lumber affecting it, and that that detriment had been produced by the regulation, and
whether it is intended to modify the regulation?

ZONE CORNER FOR STATION

Council Passes Measure After Hearing Opponents At Public Hearing

The amendment to the zoning by-law, rezoning the northwest corner
of Cormorant and Douglas Streets
as a service station district, was passed by the City Council Monday night, after a public hearing had been granted those opposed to the measure.

On the property is located the Commercial Hotel. The owners proposed to construct a gasoline service
station there.

The rezoning was approved by the fire chief, but opposed by the police chief.

OPPOSES MEASURE

W. H. M. Haldane, representing
the Victoria Automobile Dealers' Association, said his organization protested the rezoning on three points, namely, that the station was not in the public's interest; that it would be unfair to the existing trade; and, that the location was extremely dangerous, because of its proximity to the Fire Hall and heavy traffic arteries.

He pointed out that there were 115 stations in town already, and one gasoline pump to every seventy cars. There already were 50 per cent more petroleum outlets in the city than were necessary, he asserted.

Mr. Haldane said that, under the zoning by-law, certain rights were given. Merchants in a retail district, for instance, had a right to expect that the district in which they were located would remain a retail district.

HEAVY TAXPAYERS

J. E. Wilson, representing the owners of the property upon which it is planned to erect the station,
said the clients had paid $30,000 in taxes to the city, and the proposed service station would assure the continuance of this property on the tax list. Because it was so heavy a tax revenue source, it was in the public interest to help keep the property
in a position to produce revenue
with which to pay taxes.

To rezone the property would not be unfair to trade, Mr. Wilson contended, since if the council had power to regulate businesses, it would be besieged with various applications from those wishing to restrict competition.

R. W. Phillips, representing the Royal Trust Company, said the rezoning should be permitted, inasmuch as it would permit the sale of property on Douglas Street which had never produced any revenue.
He intimated that those who proposed constructing the service station had made an offer on the property adjoining the Commercial Hotel.

ISLAND CITY HAS NO DEBT

Resort Community of Baguio, Philippine Islands, Is Place Apart

A city with no indebtedness these days is something to be noted. That is the status of Baguio, Philippine Islands. The mayor himself, E. J. Hulsema, said so, and he produced the documents to prove it when newspapermen sought an interview with him on the arrival of the Ss. President Grant, from the Orient here yesterday morning.

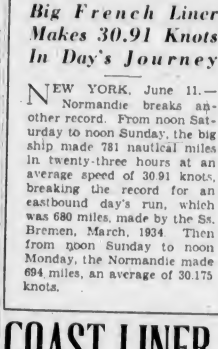

Baguio, while its every day population numbers some 12,000, is a city of 150,000. It is a summer resort in the mountains about 150 miles from Manila, and is situated at an elevation of 5,000 feet. Its transient population is naturally large. There are two highways entering it, a check of the road from Manila in 1934 showing that 991,000 persons passed over it.

The little city of Baguio, Mr. Hulsema stated, was organized in 1909, the mayor, who in this case is an engineer, being appointed ten years later by the Governor-General of the Philippines. The council administering the municipality consists of five, four of whom are elected and two appointed by the administrator of the islands.

Comparing the growth of Baguio with what it was fifteen years ago, he said, it was 3,000 people. For 1919, the amount being 239,000 pesos (peso value 50 cents), while in 1909 it was 121,000 pesos. In 1909, it was 3,000 people.

Baguio has an electric light plant and a water system, as well as other utilities, which are owned and controlled by the municipality. Apart from Manila, it is the only town in the Philippines boasting a mayor.

Mr. Hulsema has been twenty-seven years in the islands, and hoping to retire soon he states that he will continue to reside there.

MARKET BOARD IS APPOINTED
New Body Given Power, to Regulate the Price of Halibut

PRINCE RUPERT, June 11.—Federal legislation to regulate the marketing of Pacific Coast halibut has been granted and is now in effect, according to telegraphic advice received today from Ottawa by the Canadian Halibut Fishing Vessel Owners' Association.

A board consisting of F. D. Beale, representing the fishermen of Vancouver; Charles Prince, representing the boat owners of Vancouver; George Fritz and David Ritchie, representing the boat owners of Prince Rupert; and George Anderson and Karl Dybbah, representing the fishermen of Prince Rupert, has been appointed.

This board will meet at Prince Rupert, which will be the headquarters to choose a chairman and organize its activities.

Under the new legislation, every halibut boat is required to be licensed before it can sell its fish. A penalty of from $25 to $500 is provided for any boat selling halibut without a license.

It is not the intention of the board to interfere at this time with the selling of fish, but it plans to achieve its purpose of market and price regulation by the regulation of production, allowing demand and competition to take care of prices.

The legislation, however, enables the board to license wholesalers if it deems it necessary to do so. The board could also require all boats to turn over their fish to it for marketing.

ORGANIST HAS FINE POWERS

Richard Tattersall, of Toronto, Plays Bach Brilliantly in Recital Here

A brilliant interpreter of Bach's music was heard by those who went to the First United Church Monday evening to hear Richard Tattersall, the distinguished organist of St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, who is here conducting examinations for the Toronto Conservatory of Music and the Associated Board of the Royal Schools of Music, London.

Playing on one of the finest instruments in Western Canada, Mr. Tattersall gave a delightful revelation of the organ's powers and beauties, in the Bach numbers and the Himmacher "Meditation" particularly showing superb technique both on the keyboard and the pedals.

While his programme included some characteristically modern works, all most brilliantly played, Mr. Tattersall is in matters of technique one of the older school which placed great importance on searching fine detail. It was in connection with his Bach numbers that this was most apparent. The major work of his very fine programme was, of course, the Bach Fantasia and Fugue in G Minor. This was outstanding in analysis and power. The two short Bach chorale preludes were also very beautifully played, disclosing delicacy, orderliness and insight.

Other numbers were the opening Organ Concerto in B Flat, by Handel, the adagio and allegro movements of which were conspicuously fine; a charming Gluck "Meditation"; the unusually developed "Meditation" by Himmacher, a young composer of great promise who was killed in the war; Widor's "Allegro from the Sixth Organ Symphony"; and "Improvisation Caprice" by Jongen, and the vivid closing number, the Fugue from Vierne's First Organ Symphony which brought the brilliant programme to a close.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson and Mrs. Goodwin gave much pleasure with their duet, "Power Eternal," and "O Rest in the Lord." The voices blending perfectly, and Mrs. Wilson sang, with her customary sensitive artistry and sympathetic "Jerusalem" and "My Heart Ever Faithful," by Bach.

WILL TAKE TIME BEFORE DECIDING

Re: Anderson Appeal Is Concluded as Far as Arguments Are Concerned

The hearing of argument in the appeal of Rex vs. Anderson was completed yesterday morning with the members of the British Columbia Court of Appeal reserving judgment. Mr. Justice Martin intimated that he would not be ready for some little time.

For Nellie Anderson, the respondent in the case, who was charged with an "illegal operation," H. A. Maclean, K.C., argued that the woman who submitted to an operation of this character was essentially an accomplice and the trial judge was correct in finding that it was not safe to convict without corroboration.

Mr. Justice Martin asked Mr. Maclean to devote his attention to the main point that was raised by the Crown, that in the rejection of evidence, the judge had erred and that there should be a new trial.

Mr. Maclean said that the evidence rejected could not possibly be of use in the case. The position taken by the respondent was that she had nothing to do with the matter.

GIVES TALK ON WORLD CHANGES

W. B. Caird Addresses Meeting of C.C.F. Supporters on "This Changing World"

"This Changing World" was the theme of an interesting discourse given by members of the C.C.F. at a meeting, Monday night, in the C.C.F. Hall on Port Street, by W. B. Caird, a member of the organization.

Mr. Caird's address dealt mainly with the changes that have taken place in the economic life of the people since the decline of the Roman Empire, which was followed by the feudal system, chattel slavery and its attendant evils. He traced the various movements through the "dark ages" and explained the causes of the changes that had taken place from time to time.

WORLD OF TODAY
Mr. Caird maintained the world of today was unable to progress because of the inability of the people to adapt their minds to the true conditions and to hasten the end of a system that had proved inadequate to keep pace with the swiftly-changing inventions leading to the mechanization of industry. Too many, he said, were clinging to the remnants of the capitalist system to permit of a new one taking its place.

J. T. Stott was chairman, and after the opportunity to ask questions, a representative of the local Seafarers' Industrial Union addressed the gathering on the reasons for the waterfront strike in Vancouver and what the longshoremen were demanding from the Shipping Federation.

Office Becomes MORE CONGESTED
City Tax Bills Being Prepared—First Batch to Go in Mail Next Week

The city's financial department is beginning to need traffic signs, as it is becoming so congested. As extra hands were taken on yesterday to push forward the work of getting out tax bills, the already congested area became even more congested, so that one had to squeeze between desks in order to get around.

It is five months since the congestion of departments was effected, but city employees are hopeful that the structural changes will be undertaken before the end of the year.

The first batch of tax notices are expected to be put in the mail next week. Under a new scheme, the bills will be of a different color this year, so that they will be distinguished from 1934 unpaid bills. This is expected to facilitate the work of those in the cashier's cage.

ENGLAND READS OF SMART APPEARANCE OF VICTORIA POLICE

"Already noted for his dress reforms for his men, the local police chief, Thomas Heatley, has now opened Canada's one and only beauty parlor for policemen."

The parlor is equipped with clothes brushes, blacking and metal polish for buttons. "Although the local officers were a little self-conscious about it at first, they have now taken to the idea with enthusiasm."

PROVINCE TO TAP FUNDING SAVINGS

through a bond issue, and we are prepared to take up the issue ourselves from our own sinking funds. With regard to the Fraser River (toll) Bridge, no definite determination was made this morning, the statement ended.

No direct reference was made to Federal relief loans of $1,600,000 announced from Ottawa as intended for this Province. Premier Pattullo explained the $500,000 to be arranged for municipal works was distinct from $500,000 spoken of in Federal advice for loans to municipalities for relief.

"There has evidently been preconcerted action, to keep up interest, by Eastern newspapers," the Premier added verbally.

EXPLAINS DETAILS
Hon. John Hart, present at the press audience, explained the details of the new $2,000,000 British Columbia issue of bonds. He reiterated his dissatisfaction with reduction of Federal interest rates to 4 per cent. At 4½ per cent, the Minister of Finance said, the Dominion had been making a profit of 2½ per cent on loans to provinces.

The 1½ per cent reduction now mentioned from the East, will be passed on by the Province to municipalities, thereby reducing municipal loans to 4½ per cent instead of 6 per cent, as at present. Official confirmation of the interest cut is awaited.

SHORTAGE REPORTED
In the budget address of February 27 last, Mr. Hart reported British Columbia sinking funds short to the extent of $5,444,475 as at November 1, 1934, no provision being made for the major part of sinking fund allotment in 1935-36 for the third year in succession.

"This shortage, however, is more than covered by the realizable value of assets created by the revenue-producing debt of the Province," the budget address had continued.

The value of sinking funds held by the Province at November 1, 1934, was given as $31,951,832.

Through Conquering Visitor Here From England Environment Youth Would Recover Zest

Professor Ira Dilworth, Addressing Victoria Women's Canadian Club, Indicates Possible Methods of Curing Boredom Through Education

THAT modern youth is bewildered, confused, lacking in enthusiasm and zest for life, because the senior generations have failed to give them clear and convincing leadership and direction, was charged by Prof. Ira Dilworth, of the University of British Columbia, in the thought-provoking talk he gave yesterday afternoon to the large audience of members present at the annual meeting of the Women's Canadian Club held at the Empress Hotel.

Speaking to the subject of "Education Versus Boredom," Professor Dilworth maintained that education, whether in the home, the church, or the school, had failed to impose on the mind of the present and immediately previous generation of young people a sense of the value of doing things not for some utilitarian or practical value they may have for profession or business in years to come, but for their own sake.

BACKED BY PARENTS
"In school today students are too prone—and parents are too ready to support them—to take the attitude that they are not going to take such and such a course because it is of no use," Mary says she won't take algebra because she doesn't like it and anyway it won't be of any use to her. She'll take something else. She has been encouraged to think that education is something that is preparing her to receive some sort of reward, that it is a preparation for life, that it will help her to take a certain job or a certain social position. For that reason Mary says she will not take algebra; John says he will not take French as even if he studied it for a year or two he would never be able to order a meal if he went to Paris. So the parents allow Mary and John to take something else that will be more useful helping them to take their rank in life."

said Professor Dilworth in visualizing the reaction of the youth of today to the subjects offered them in the curriculum.

This attitude was wrong, although the speaker admitted that in years gone by he himself had taken something the same attitude in urging students to go on with French or some other subject because without it they could not get their matriculation.

But there came a time when this argument proved futile. John turned round and asked why he should take his matriculation, as many boys who had matriculated had been unable to get work and were now in the relief camps.

EDUCATION IS LIFE
This had driven home the truth that education was life itself, not merely something to prepare people for life. It would be much better to bring "Mary" and "John" up in the knowledge that in their student days they were living exactly the same life they would be living twenty years hence.

One bare definition of education was that it was the means by which the individual attempted to adjust himself to his environment. Instead of this "Mary" and "John" were being encouraged, under the existing attitude, to take the view that because they found their environment difficult and complicated, their environment must be changed. The better attitude would be to assume that the environment would be there to be conquered and put under foot. In making this statement Professor Dilworth did not, he said, mean to suggest that youth's environment could not be improved in the school. There was room for certain improvement there, but a change in the curriculum was not going to prove the cure-all that some hoped.

ESSENTIAL THING
"Don't forget that you always have to deal with the essential thing, which is Mary and John and their attitude toward their environment. If Mary and John in the schools of Victoria are being allowed to shrink difficulties and helped to find a way out, if they are being allowed to turn from the difficult thing to something less difficult, ten years from now they will still be shirking the difficult thing, still searching for an easier way out." It was maintained.

The great thrill of life, the thing that was to relieve life of any sense of boredom or ennui, was to fire Mary and John with the idea of conquering their environment. This kind of contest distinguished the human from the animal, for the human being could set himself intelligently to the task of changing and conquering his environment.

"We are in danger of losing sight of the fact that the conquering of algebra or French or any other subject on the curriculum may in itself bring a great joy and thrill to those who master these subjects. Thanks for any reward that may follow, but merely through the fact of driving the human will above the problems that confront it."

RUSSIAN YOUTH
While he was by no means a convert to the doctrines enunciated by the American author of "Russian Youth and the Modern World," a book apparently extolling Communism, Prof. Dilworth admitted to finding many "extraordinary and arresting" things in this publication. One of the interesting observations made by the author was that he had found the youth in the schools of Russia really interested in being at school because they were encouraged to take the attitude that what they were doing in school was really a part of life; that in school they were living life just as truly as they would live it when they were through. This was in definite contrast to the attitude of Western youth, who grew up with the idea that when they were through school they would begin to live.

The Russian youth, according to this author, finds in the process of education the process of life itself. In that way it seems that education must be the antidote to boredom, the force that is to save us from the ennui which has come upon us," it was suggested.

"PRACTICAL" EDUCATION
In saying that education must be practical, Prof. Dilworth did not mean, he said, that more courses in household economics, engineering or other technical subjects must be taught. What he did mean by "practical" education was that it should create attitudes that brought one into practical relationship with life. Education must more and more try to conserve the power of taking delight in life. Humankind began life in this right attitude, as one could see by watching little children. Children ordinarily neither work nor play in the expectation of rewards, but just for the sheer delight of working and playing. The new education must aim to conserve this for life. It would be much better to bring "Mary" and "John" up in the knowledge that in their student days they were living exactly the same life they would be living twenty years hence.

One bare definition of education was that it was the means by which the individual attempted to adjust himself to his environment. Instead of this "Mary" and "John" were being encouraged, under the existing attitude, to take the view that because they found their environment difficult and complicated, their environment must be changed. The better attitude would be to assume that the environment would be there to be conquered and put under foot. In making this statement Professor Dilworth did not, he said, mean to suggest that youth's environment could not be improved in the school. There was room for certain improvement there, but a change in the curriculum was not going to prove the cure-all that some hoped.

HYPODERMICS USED
The difference in the value of hobbies, "activity habits," and the kind of "hypodermics" and "stimulants" such as "the constant din of radio," the continual run of telephone calls, the never-ending round of amusements, was intimated by the speaker in the course of his address. Even the churches were lending themselves to the practice of amusements to keep their young people from boredom.

All this traced back to the prevalent attitude of disillusionment. "We had lost our dreams, our faith in spiritual realities," Prof. Dilworth roughly classified the "disillusioned" into three groups: first, those people who before the war had attained a sense of "a guaranteed world" that would perpetuate itself indefinitely and securely, but who lived to see the war shatter all these established institutions and social states; second, the young people who were in their youth when the war broke out and consequently never knew the meaning of security, who were hurried into the war before their roots had any opportunity to get set, or before they came to test any faith in religion, philosophy, science, law, order, or government; and third, the young people who for the past decade had been and were going out of the schools and colleges.

Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin moved the vote of thanks.

Keeper of King's Secrets Is Dead
WINDSOR, England, June 11 (AP)—Rev. Albert Lee, known as "the keeper of the King's secrets," died today. He was eighty-two.

Mr. Lee, who retired in 1930 after forty years' service as recorder of the King's archives in Windsor Castle, was a close friend of His Majesty.

FURNISHINGS SOLD
SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—About $75,000 was realized by the auction sale of furnishings and fittings of the Mauretania. The famous liner is being broken up at Rosyth, Scotland.

Bill, and he took issue with lawyers who claimed Parliament did not have power to establish a board along the lines suggested by the commission. In any event, "we have come to a position in this House where we have a right to make an effort to legislate in the interests of the great mass of the people. . . . The people of the country are looking to this House to give them some measure of relief."

The former Cabinet Minister referred to the cartels, mergers and consolidations which had occurred in recent years and the concentration of wealth and power in a few hands. Twelve Canadians controlled $9,800,000,000 of industrial wealth and credit, and Canada today, while nominally a democracy, was "ruled by a plutocratic autocracy," he said.

TO FACE THE FACTS
He called on the House to face the facts, to establish a board with power to designate unfair business practices and stop them. There was no use in placing them in laws, he insisted, asking the Government to have an individual against a $40,000,000,000 corporation in a court; or, he asked, what chance had 700,000 scattered, unorganized farmers against a packing company that controlled 90 per cent of the industry?

been disposed of and the inspector testified that these had in most of the cases been given for services rendered the accused, and not in cash payments.

The tickets were in the Dominion Racing Association and among the instructions given in connection with the tickets was "never dispose of membership to a stranger." The drawings were to take place in Toronto.

The accused had been previously warned, said the inspector.

BILINGUAL TREASURER
PRETORIA (AP)—Deputations representing the Afrikaans (pioneer Dutch language) organizations have protested the appointment of a city treasurer because he does not speak Dutch.

FINED FOR SELLING TICKETS IN DRAWING

Alex McKenzie was fined $100 in the city police court yesterday for failing to pay the fine, will have to spend two months in jail. He was charged with having sold tickets which called for a drawing to decide upon the prizes. The accused pleaded guilty, but said that while he had disposed of some tickets, he had not received money for them. He elected summary trial before the magistrate.

Inspector John T. Bolton produced the book of tickets found on the accused. Six tickets appeared to have trade and industry board with some of the powers recommended by the Mass Buying Commission. He drew applause from back-bench Conservatives, C.C.F. members and vocal support from Liberals across the floor.

TO REDRESS WRONGS
In an impassioned speech lasting over an hour, Mr. Stevens called on the House of Commons, as the last defender of democracy, to redress the wrongs perpetrated by the Mass Buying Commission. It was Parliament's duty, he insisted, to lay down rules which industry seemed unwilling to institute for itself. "The country is waiting for this House of Commons to lay down rules to relieve the people from the unfair, predatory practices that have victimized them."

When the former minister sat down, there were a few seconds of steady deep-pounding from many conservative members, but no member of the Government rose to reply. Premier R. B. Bennett, who listened attentively to the whole speech, left the Chamber a few minutes later.

SUGGESTS AMENDMENTS
If the Dominion had no power to implement all recommendations of the commission, he suggested a conference with the provinces and amendments to the British North America Act. This would pave the way for "some legislation that will be valid, effective, and of benefit to the working people of this country."

Minister of Trade and Commerce R. B. Hanson said the bill was an "honest, sincere attempt to give effect to such portions of the report of the Mass Buying Commission not otherwise provided for in legislation currently before the House and within the constitutional limitations of Parliament." He claimed it would go beyond the powers of the House to give the Trade Board control of monopolies and regulatory powers over industry as proposed by the commission.

Mr. Stevens said he was "deeply disappointed" in the Government.

Uncomfortable for Jockey

Here's where a jockey had a few bad minutes and nearly a headache. Prosy, the horse, became a bit fractious in the starting stalls at Belmont Park, L.I., and started to show how he could rear. Bobby Jones (the jockey, not the golfer) found his head uncomfortably close to the steel bars when his mount went up. When Prosy finally got under way, with Jones still astride, she unceremoniously sped to finish third in the dash.

TOURING XI IN DECISIVE SOCCER WIN

Scottish Footballers Tounce Hamilton All-Stars by 10 to 1 Score

HAMILTON, June 11 (AP).—Displaying dazzling speed and brilliant teamwork, the touring Scots defeated Hamilton Scots, 10-1, before a crowd of 4,500 cheering fans, tonight.

The Scots gave one of the best exhibitions of the whole tour, and thoroughly delighted the crowd. The Hamilton team never gave up to the end, and their display was better than the score would indicate, although they were utterly outclassed. The Scots led at the interval by 4-0, and scored six goals in the second period to Hamilton's lone counter scored by Wass.

Nine minutes had elapsed when the Scots scored their first goal through the great Tommy Walker, who throughout dazzled the crowd with his brilliance. Another nine minutes and Wilson headed into the empty net as Holmes ran out in an attempt to save. Twelve minutes after that McKeljohn scored with a terrific drive from thirty-five yards, and Ferguson completed the first half scoring just before the interval with a pretty shot into the corner.

The Scots were still out for goals as the second half commenced, and after ten minutes, Walker again netted. Mills tested the sixth with Holmes making no effort to save. Duncan scored the seventh goal after some brilliant work by Tommy Walker. Then came Hamilton's lone counter. Wass obtained the goal on a pass from Walsley, as Stevenson made no effort to save. Ferguson was responsible for the next goal, the ball hitting the post, to be picked up by Wilson on the rebound, and kicked into the net. Ferguson to Wilson was the combination again to make the score, 9-1.

Just before the end of the game, Ferguson completed the scoring with a left-footed drive.

The teams:
Scotland—Stevenson, Anderson, Cummings, McKeljohn, Donnelly, McDonald, Ferguson, Walker, David Wilson, Mills and Duncan.
Hamilton—Holmes, McConnell, Dunlop, Wilson, Gubb and McLaughlin, Touhey, Walters, Walsley, Connolly and Wass.

Referee—C. Newton, Innesmuir, A. Turnbull and J. Fox.

DAVE RANDALL IS CHAMPION

Wins Colwood Golf Club Championship by Defeating H. G. MacKenzie

The old golf proverb, "The medalist rarely survives match play," was aptly applied over the week-end at the Royal Colwood Golf Club, when Dave Randall, qualifying-round winner, captured the men's championship by his 2 and 1 victory over H. G. "Scotty" MacKenzie in the scheduled thirty-six hole final. From the first tee to the thirty-fifth, where the match ended, the finalists battled up-and-tuck. In the semi-final, Randall eliminated Sandy Marling, 4 and 1, and MacKenzie ousted B. P. Schwengers by a similar margin.

Art Christopher took first flight honors from A. D. Macey, 2 and 1, while George Strath won over Don McDiarmid in the second-flight final, 3 and 2. Ross Hocking took the third flight by his 3 and 1 decision over A. Dennison.

RANKING STARS ARE TRIUMPHANT AS PLAY STARTS AT OAK BAY

Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, Defending Champion, and Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, Medalist, Move Into Next Rounds—Mrs. Philbrick, Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Jackson, Miss M. Todd Win

Paced by the present titleholder, Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, and the medalist, Mrs. F. F. Sayward-Wilson, along with three other former champions, ranking contenders for this year's women's city golf championship, moved into the second round today as match play opened in the sixteenth annual tournament yesterday afternoon at the Oak Bay links. Some of them got by the initial clashes with comparative ease, while others were carried well down the homeward stretch before eliminating the opposition. One match ended on the final green and another was settled at the seventeenth, while two others halted on the sixteenth.

Miss Mackenzie-Grieve turned in a steady performance to garner a 3 and 2 victory over Mrs. Boyd. The young Uplands Club member, who is out to retain her championship, had most of her clubs clicking right and jumped at every opportunity to end the match at the sixteenth green. Another match which came to a stop at the same hole finished in favor of Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, Oak Bay, against Miss Dorothy Fletcher, Uplands, by a similar margin. Mrs. Philbrick and Miss Fletcher battled on a pretty even basis most of the day, but the former's experience in tournament play proved too much for the young opponent to overcome.

CLOSE FINISH
The closest tussle of the championship took place in the upper bracket with Mrs. McIlraith gaining a one-up decision over Mrs. Alex Watson. Miss Vivian Wiley, Gorge Vale champion, played her shots well to nose out Mrs. A. Dowell, Uplands, at the seventeenth green, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, last year's runner-up and Monday's qualifying round winner, kept close to par all day to win easily from Mrs. E. D. Todd, Oak Bay, 6 and 5. Mrs. Sayward-Wilson walked off with the medal honors with a fine 79 to establish herself one of the strong favorites. Miss Marjorie Todd, twice a winner of the crown, had things her own way against Mrs. R. L. Pocock and advanced via a 7 and 6 victory. Miss Todd played the opening nine in 37 to hold a big lead as the pair headed down the incoming route.

Mrs. E. Jackson, runner-up in the qualifying test with an 82, and 1932 champion, came through with a one-sided triumph, winning over Mrs. C. E. Wilson, 6 and 5. Oak Bay's British Columbia tiltist, Mrs. J. Hutchinson, accounted for Mrs. A. K. Mitchell, 5 and 3, after a steady display of shot-making.

GOOD MATCHES TODAY
Some great golf should be witnessed at the Oak Bay course this afternoon. The feature match brings together the champion, Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, and Miss Marjorie Todd. It should develop into one of the best battles of the tournament. Miss Todd won the title in 1930 and again in 1932, while the Uplands player picked up her first championship last year at Colwood at the nineteenth hole from Mrs. Sayward-Wilson. The latter plays Hutchinson and Mrs. Philbrick who have held the laurels on four different occasions, meet in the lower bracket in another match, which should be mighty interesting. Mrs. Jackson and Miss Vivian Wiley will match strokes in the bottom half of the lower section of the draw.

Baseball's Big Six moved to seven yesterday when Charley Gehring moved into a tie with Jimmy Fox for the third position in the American League trio. Neither showed a gain, but Fox lost five points while Gehring was falling only four points to the rear of his previous average. They ended the day each with a percentage of .342. Arky Vaughan again showed the only gain, his two hits in four times at bat being good for a boost of two points and an average of .392.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
The Street Called Straight—The "Street Called Straight," in Damascus, mentioned in Acts ix, 11, contained the residence of Judas, where dwelt the Apostle Paul, when he was converted. The street is still in existence and is about one and a half miles long, running through the centre of the city. It has been roofed over so that it looks, from above, like a pipeline laid through Damascus. The street, which still bears the same name as in the days of St. Paul, is the scene of an animated commercial life today. It is lined with barbers' shops, eating stalls and cake-like artisans' shelters.
